WARNING: PUN ZONE AHEAD

People are always shocked when they find out that I'm not a very good electrician.

- The first five days after the weekend are the hardest.
- I child proofed my house but the kids still get in.
- If attacked by a mob of clowns, go for the juggler.
- The past, present and future walk into a bar. It was tense.
- A clear conscience is the sign of a fuzzy memory.
- Does seven days without meat make one week?

Phraseology:

"Bought the Farm"

This term, which means to die, dates from about 1950. It refers to military pilots on training flights over rural areas of the United States. Occasionally a pilot would crash and damage a farmer's land; the farmer then would sue the government for an amount large enough to pay off the mortgage. Since such a crash was nearly always fatal, the pilot was said to "buy the farm" with his life.

Jerry Seinfeld

American stand-up comedian and TV sitcom actor.

"People who read the tabloids deserve to be lied to."

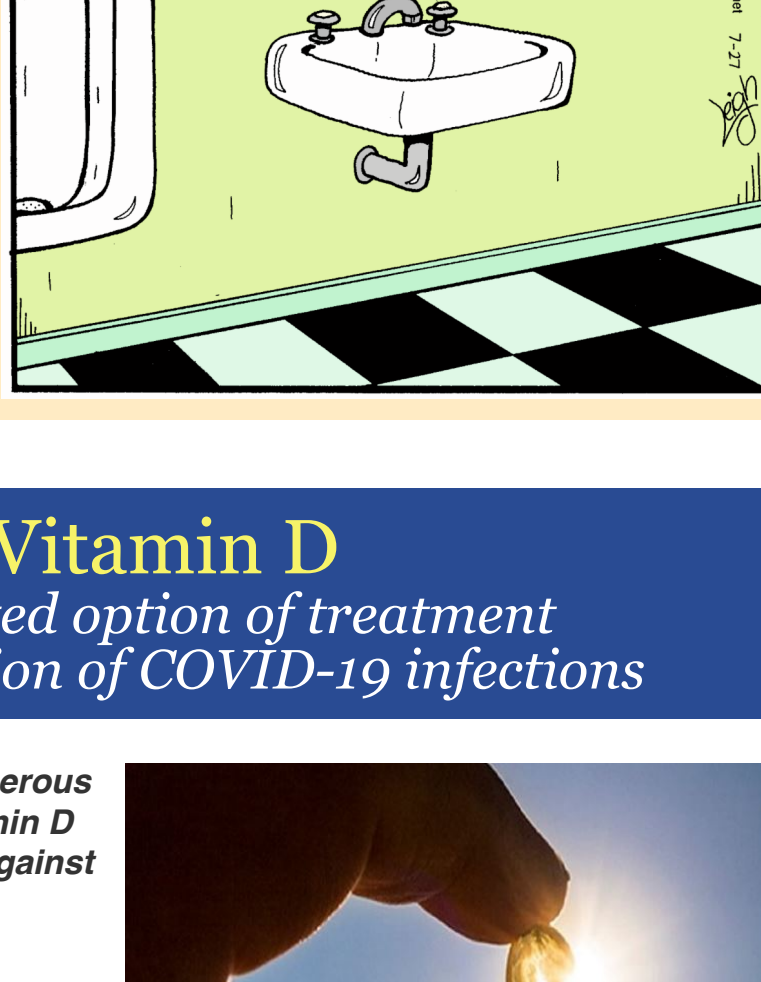

"You know, crankiness is at the essence of all comedy."

"Make no mistake about why these babies are here - they are here to replace us."

"I am so busy doing nothing... that the idea of doing anything - which as you know, always leads to something - cuts into the nothing and then forces me to have to drop everything."
